The green ring is an important inclusion in the plan. Southbourne has always been green and open and we need it to stay that way as far as possible. It will also help to unify the village in a sustainable and pleasant way. I am also a supporter of the environmental policies. I think the threat of the degradation or even loss of the important harbour habitat is very real. The wildlife corridors are important in trying to maintain what we've got in the way of plant and animal life, once gone unlikely to return.

I support the management of design policy. While some houses fit well into their surroundings, others are badly designed and look literally like a blot on the landscape. The high building standards to mitigate climate change and reduce carbon emissions are welcome.

Walking through the fields between Southbourne and the 'outliers' of Lumley and Hermitage reinforced my concerns that the plan is necessary to prevent encroachment and filling in of these lovely fields which surround Southbourne.
